My Trivial and Immature Days 2023, 91 x 91cm, Acrylic on canvas

AMMON TOKYO and WADA GAROU TOKYO Lab. are pleased to announce a solo exhibition by Kyaraai, “My Trivial and Immature Days” starting Friday, March 24, 2023. As a new attempt, the second floor of the WADA GAROU TOKYO Lab. will be offered as a studio space for the artist to create works during her exhibition period, which will be exhibited on the third floor of the Lab. and at AMMON TOKYO in Jimbocho.

ARTIST STATEMENT

On January 1st of this year, I went out to a park full of nature. On the way there, I realized that I had left my phone at home.

I thought “Oh dear”, but on the other hand, I was glad. On days like that, I don't have to worry about notifications or anything. I am a little lucky.

But even when I know I don't have it with me, I still want to take a picture of a nice view of the park and look for it in my pocket.

Do I feel like I have to record it on my phone to complete the impression?

This solo exhibition will be based on such an occurrence and will show works that were created during the residency period at WADA GAROU TOKYO Lab. We sincerely look forward to your visit.

PROFILE

Kyaraai (b.1996 Osaka, Japan)

The main theme of her work is 'self-perception in fluctuation'. In an age when we are exposed to diverse values through social media, has absorbed so many things that has lost track of what is right and what is wrong, even her own opinions and attributes, and feels a strong sense of uncertainty within herself, which she uses her art as a vessel to accept. Creates works that draw the viewer in with their original catchiness, such as the large eyes like those of girls' manga that was familiar with as a child and the colors like those of fancy goods, and continues to create works that allow the viewer to communicate with the characters depicted in the works.
